

Becoming An Education Marketer

Most Prospective Customers are relatively uneducated about how to solve their challenges in the best way. One way to build credibility and trust... as well as create motivation in your prospects and advantage for yourself... is to EDUCATE as you Market and Sell. The key to using Education successfully in your Marketing is to make sure that the education you're delivering leads to a sale - not just to more knowledge.

Where does my Prospective Customer have mis-information or lack of information that is DANGEROUS to them?

What information, if my Prospective Customer were to learn it, would help them see how important it is to solve their challenge NOW - instead of waiting?

What types of educational materials can I create that would both educate and sell my products and services?
