

Session 2:

Mindsets and Strategies for Success in Turning Your Talent into Income

Here are 6 obstacles to long term financial success:

1. Fear: fear of success, of failure, of rejection, of loss, of control. We need to get ourselves to overcome our fears so we take action.
2. Thinking that everyone of us are exactly the same and that humans are all the same. Thinking this can be very expensive to your long term success. We are equal in our rights, but not in our gifts.
3. Thinking that we humans are all different. We are all different, but if we focus too much on our differences, we lose touch with the reality of our commonalities. Others have similar talents to ours, but ours is a unique expression of it.
4. Not knowing what we're good at. If we don't know what we're good at, we won't have confidence. It's important that you believe you can face whatever challenges life throws your way, especially in your area of expertise. Otherwise you'll give up too soon and never reach the highest levels of success.
5. Not knowing what the opportunities are. Most situations or markets are not growing - you need to recognize what they are and avoid them.
6. Not knowing how to create massive value. Most of us have learned how to "work" and get a pat on the head from someone else. But when you get into the real psychology of value creation, and then go to work to create the value - not just do "work" - the whole game changes for you.

Here are 7 mindsets for turning your talent into income. They operate as a set of "frames" within which we'll operate in this program...

1. I have unique gifts and abilities that can be turned into consistent high income. This must be your mental approach. If you believe you can't, you'll make this reality a self fulfilling prophecy. When you're talking to your prospects or potential partners, they'll pick up on your lack of self-belief and won't buy from or partner with you.
2. There are more than enough opportunities available for me to become highly successful. Many people believe there's "too much competition." This stops them from trying.
3. New people fill new opportunities, and there are new opportunities being created for me every day.
4. Just because the opportunities are available, doesn't mean I and others know about them. Many people can't see opportunities because they're not trying to find them. The way to find them is to believe that they are out there, and begin understanding the kinds of situations where you can create a lot of value. Years ago, I saw that there were no online programs to give men dating advice. I saw this was a massive opportunity, where others didn't, and I was able to grow it into a multi-million dollar company.
5. In the past, income was about doing work. In the future, income is about results and value creating. Some people will get wealthy very rapidly. It's not necessarily about how hard they work, it's about the value they're creating.

6. I am responsible for my results, even though there are many challenges outside my control. It's my responsibility to create value. When you take responsibility for results, it allows you to do a much better job of creating value.
7. Connecting my talent to big future opportunities, then developing my talent into a strength I can focus over the long term to create massive value, is my road to high income.

Exercise:

1. It's valuable to look at where you'll be in your life in the future, so you can have a "map" for the journey of your life. Write a vision for what you want your career to look like, and what you want your income to be in 3 years. Write it in the present tense. "I woke up today in my new house, then I checked my business stats and see it had grown 50% over the past year. I saw I had just made $10,000 in the last month...."
 2. Next, write down the key mindset or belief you'll need to get to your 3 year goal.
- ❖ For extra credit, put a notepad next to your bed and every morning and night, rewrite your vision and your mindset. Do this for the next 30 days. It'll take your results to the next level.
