

Session 12: "Move the Free Line"

Key Points...

1. The cost of creating and giving away massive value is now $0.
 - Anything you can distribute online can now be given away essentially at no cost.
 - So what are most businesses doing?
 - NOTHING.
2. The Old Model: "Give away advertisements"
 - It used to cost a lot to give away almost ANYTHING.
 - The internet has changed this, by allowing us to distribute documents, audio and video virtually free.
 - Our inner chimp resists giving something away in order to get something in return.
3. The New Model: Give away something of REAL value.
 - The highest leverage thing you can give away is content that educates your Customer.
 - Free reports, free videos, a free webinar, free consultations - all are high perceived value.
 - What could you create and give away?
4. Create and give away something that's worth at least $100.
 - Create a set of free content, downloads or videos that's worth at least $100.
 - Then give it away - to as many people as you possibly can.
 - You must get over your "Justice Mechanism."
5. Give away more value = attract more customers to your site & list.
 - The more value you give away, the more you attract people to your site, and your list.
 - There's a lesson here: In the future, the game is about who can create the most VALUE.
6. The GURU MasterMind: a "Moving The Free Line" case study:
 - I asked myself: Can you give away TOO much?
 - I set out to give away $1000 worth of value to as many people as possible.
 - Resulted in multi-million dollar product launch.
